

LET'S MAKE IT HAPPEN

TAKING YOUR IDEAS INTO ACTION

Have you ever had an idea that has gone no further than 'hey, that would be a great idea'. Yes? ... then this is the course for you.

Whether you have considered starting a business, thought about writing a book or ever had an idea or impulse for any project not yet taken to a point of completion ... then the team from Impulse to Action are here to support.

SERIES ONE

FOUNDATIONS – Essential for Building any Successful Business and Project

Welcome to the Impulse to Action Foundations Program – four one-day progressive workshops over four months with the option for personalised consultation to assist with the practical application with successful business and action women Susan Scully and Tanya Curtis, in person, over the phone or online via video conferencing on the Sunday following each of the four workshops.

We will bring focus to the importance of foundations and what needs to be actioned to get to a point of completion across all areas of any successful business or project, including:

1. Foundations are essential – WHY?
2. You: It begins here and it never ends – the main ingredient to any project or business
3. Building solid foundations with other people
4. Business and project foundations

'If you build a house with rickety foundations, it will not survive the storms – if you build a business or project with unstable foundations, it will not reach a solid point of completion.'

Over four weekends starting in April, join Susan and Tanya who love supporting people to make their impulses happen – from Impulse to Action, they are here to support every step of the way.

See page over for more details.

ABOUT THE PRESENTERS

Susan Scully and Tanya Curtis are both successful action women in their own right – having taken many ideas/impulses and actioned them, both independently and together.

Susan has founded and run many, many businesses across a range of industries while at the same time founding, developing, managing and working in her accounting business since 1999. Further to that, Susan has supported countless businesses and organisations at varying stages of their development.

Tanya has always had a go-getter approach to life, saying the people who have motivated her in life are those who tell her she can't do something. Tanya has taken impulses such as starting a business, ideas for books and products and so much more through the action all the way to the point of completion.
